VOL. XLII., No. 6.

NEW YORK, August 6, 1892.

WHOLE No. 1071.

D. APPLETON & CO.'S NEW BOOKS.

CAPT'N DAVY'S HONEYMOON. A MANX YARN.

By HALL CAINE, author of "The Deemster," "The Scape-Goat," etc. 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

"If proof were needed of the firm hold Mr. Hall Caine's latest story, 'The Scape-Goat,' has taken of the novel-reading public, it might be found in the rush for the cheap edition of that work. No fewer than 6000 copies were taken up by the trade before publication. An earlier novel, 'The Deemster,' has run through a dozen editions."—London Literary World.

ETELKA'S VOW.

By DOROTHEA GERARD, author of "A Queen of Curds and Cream," "Orthodox," etc., and joint author of "A Sensitive Plant." No. 98, Town and Country Library. 12mo, paper, 50 cents; cloth, $1.

"We heartily commend 'A Queen of Curds and Cream' for its naturalness and for the skill with which the various characters are portrayed."—Boston Saturday Evening Gazette.

"'A Queen of Curds and Cream' is a singularly original, interesting and powerful novel, which cannot fail to augment the author's already well-established reputation."—London Figaro.

AN ENGLISHMAN IN PARIS.

NOTES AND RECOLLECTIONS. In two volumes, 12mo, cloth, $4.50.

"Accomplished man of the world that the author was . . . much travelled, much learned in human nature, in French ways of life and in the science of living well . . . he writes out of a mind well stored with the choicest knowledge of Parisians and of Parisian life. We cannot conceive of any man writing a more interesting book of personal reminiscences for the same period. The author not only saw and remembered much, but he was a wise man and a sane one. All the operations of his mind were clear, strong and wholesome, and we see in his book much of that social charm and weight which in the Englishman at his best can be found as nowhere else in the world."—N. Y. Times.

NOTES IN SEASON.

B. WESTERMANN & Co. will publish in September the third volume of Conway and Crouse's translation of Karl Brugmann's "Comparative Grammar of the Indo-Germanic Languages." The fourth and concluding volume, with a full index, will be issued next year.

THE D. D. MERRILL Co., of St. Paul and New York, have purchased from John Wiley &

Sons the plates of their various editions of Ruskin's works and their entire stock of the same in sheets and bound. All orders for the Wiley editions and for any further volumes that may be issued will from this date be furnished by the D. D. Merrill Co.

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. have just published "Dorothy Wallis: an autobiography," a story of theatrical life, with a preface by Walter Besant; "Abraham Fabert," by G. Hooper, a most interesting biography of the first Marshal of France who rose from the ranks to that position; also, "Distinction and the Criticism of Belief," by Alfred Sidgwick, a consideration of the difficulties arising from acceptance of the doctrines of evolution.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will issue on August 8 Stevenson's long-expected book on Samoa, entitled "A Footnote to History," being a graphic and interesting narrative of the varied history of that island for the past eight years. They will also publish on the same date "Five Hundred Books for the Young," a carefully graded and annotated list of juvenile reading, compiled by George E. Hardy, Chairman of the Committee on Literature of the New York State Teachers' Association.

D. APPLETON & Co. have in preparation a new edition of W. H. Herndon's "Abraham Lincoln." The work has been thoroughly revised, and will be brought out in two volumes, with new illustrations, and an introduction written by Horace White. The first volume of Appletons' forthcoming military series, Captain Mahan's "Admiral Farragut," will be followed by Gen. O. O. Howard's "General Taylor." Gen. Bradley T. Johnson is writing a volume on "Washington," Gen. Fitzhugh Lee is preparing one on "General Lee," and "General Hancock" is to be dealt with by Gen. Francis A. Walker.

HARPER & BROTHERS' latest announcements include "The Woodman," a novel, by Jules de Glouvet (M. Guernay de Beaurepaire, famous for his prominence in connection with the trial of the anarchist Ravachol and with the case of Gen. Boulanger a few years ago), translated by Mrs. John Simpson (née Senior); "The Desire of Beauty," devoted to subjects connected with art and art criticism, discussing among other matters the invention of beauty, the various kinds of criticism, the education of the eye, etc., by Theodore Child; and "A Family Canoe Trip," the story of a summer tour through the lakes and rivers of northern New York, by Florence Watters Snedeker, illustrated.

D. C. HEATH & Co., Boston, will issue this month "La Chute," from Victor Hugo's "Les Misérables," edited with introduction and notes by Prof. Huss, of Princeton. Though taken from a large work, this book is an independent and well-rounded whole in itself. They also announce a work by Prof. Albert S. Cook, of Yale, entitled "The Bible and English Prose Style," and intended for use in schools, colleges, theological seminaries, and wherever there is a desire to approach the subject of Biblical study from the literary side; "The Teacher's Manual to Sheldon's Studies in American History;" also, an abbreviated edition of De Vigny's "Cinq Mars," edited with introduction and notes, dealing quite largely with historical matters, by Prof. Sankey of Harrow School, England.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p. in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no prices, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); (Q. 4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tt. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. (48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

Apgar, Austin C. Trees of the northern United States: their study, description and determination, for the use of schools and private students. N. Y., American Book Co., [1892.] c. 224 p. il. D. cl., $1.

The author is Professor of Botany in the New Jersey State Normal School. The ground covered is that of the wild and cultivated trees found east of the Rocky Mountains and north of the southern boundary of Virginia and Missouri. The illustrations are taken from original drawings from nature by the author, and the size of the illustration as compared with the specimen is indicated by fractions. A conservative course has been adopted in nomenclature. Scientific names are marked to indicate pronunciation.

Austen, Jane. Novels; ed. by Reginald Brimley Johnson. In 10 v. V. 1 and 2, Sense and sensibility; il. by W. C. Cooke. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1892. 32+163; 4+218 p. S. cl., ea., $1.

Bardeen, C. W., comp. The song patriot: a collection of national and other songs for school and home. Syracuse, N. Y., C. W. Bardeen, 1892. 80 p. sq. D. (Song budget music ser., no. 3.) pap., 15 c.

The Song Budget Music Series aims: 1, To give only the best music; 2, To give music just as it was written; 3, To give only songs that are strong, healthful and helpful. This instalment is specially intended for celebrations of Arbor Day, Decoration Day, etc.

Baring-Gould, Sabine. Margery of Quether, and other stories. N. Y., Lovell, Gastefeld & Co., [1892.] c. 4-286 p. D. cl., $1.25; pap., 50c.

Although the time of the first story is the nineteenth century, it is evidently founded on an old superstition. George Rosedhu, of Foggaton, Lamerton Parish, Devonshire, tells of matrimonial intentions in which Margery Palmer, of Quether, was the centre of attraction until an eventful Christmas Eve, on which a meeting with another Margery transforms him strangely, and results in an exciting experience in which both "Margerys" are important figures. Included with this are four other short stories called: "Tom A' Tudlams;" "At the Y;" "Major Cornelius;" "Wanted a reader."

Baring-Gould, Sabine. The origin and development of religious belief. Pt. 1, Polytheism and monotheism; Pt. 2, Christianity. New ed. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1892. 2 v., 16+422; 20+388 p. 8° (Silver lib.) cl., ea., $1.25.

Besant, Walter. Verbena Camellia Stephanotis, and other stories. N. Y., Harper, 1892. 8+338 p. D. (Harper's Franklin sq. lib., new series, no. 723.) pap., 50 c.

Verbena Camellia Stephanotis was the name the cemetery gardener of West Finchley was desirous of conferring on his only daughter, heroine of the first of a collection of stories, now first published in book form. "The doubt of Dives, a recital of a strange metamorphose" is the second story of the collection. Following this are "The demoniac," based on the harrowing experience of a man who suffered from an hereditary vice; and "The doll's house and—after," which is an answer to Hendrik Ibsen's "Doll's house."

Besant, W. H. Elementary hydrostatics; with chapters on the motion of fluids and on sound. 15th ed., rewritten. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1892. 8-264 p. 12°, cl., $1.25.

Black, W. Three feathers: a novel. New [uniform] and rev. ed. N. Y., Harper, 1892. 6+334 p. D. cl., 90 c.

Blaikie, Ja., and Thomson, W. Text-book of geometrical deductions. Bk. 2, corresponding to Euclid, Bk. 2; with miscellaneous deductions from Bks. 1 and 2. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1892. 8+57 p. 16°, cl., 30 c.

Bosworth, Franke Huntington, M.D. Diseases of the nose and throat. In 2 v. V. 2, Diseases of the throat. N. Y., W. Wood & Co., 1892. 832 p. il. O. cl., $6.

Brunton, T. Lauder. An introduction to modern therapeutics: Croonian lectures on the relationship between chemical structure and physiological action in relation to the prevention, control and cure of disease, delivered before the Royal College of Physicians in London, June, 1889. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1892. 7-195 p. 8°, cl., $1.50.

Buckley, J. M., D.D. Ingersoll under the microscope: Col. R. G. Ingersoll's reckless misstatements exposed, and his mental and moral characteristics analyzed. N. Y., Hunt & Eaton, 1892. c. 36 p. S. pap., 6 c.

The editor of the Christian Advocate refutes the statements made by Ingersoll in the N. Y. Evening Telegram in 1891, under the title "Colonel Ingersoll preaches a Christmas sermon." He follows this with a short treatise on the character and talents of Ingersoll, and gives some opinions held by noted men relative to him.

Clifford, Mrs. W. K. Aunt Anne: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1892. c. 2+335 p. D. cl., $1.25.

Aunt Anne is almost seventy when she appears at the house of her nephew and his sweet young wife. She is old-fashioned, extravagant, tender-hearted and penniless, but has prospects of inheriting a large fortune from her cousin, an ex-Lord Mayor of London. A selfish, lazy man under thirty, knowing of her prospects, marries her. She adores him, and slaves and borrows for him. Mrs. Clifford is the author of "Love-letters of a worldly woman."

Cohen, Solomon Solis, M.D., and Eshner, A., M.D. Essentials of diagnosis, arranged in the form of questions and answers, prepared especially for students of medicine. Phil., W. B. Saunders, 1892. c. 382 p. il. D. (Saunders' question compends, no. 17.) cl., net, $1.50.

The authors are both on the staff of the Philadelphia Hospital. "Being written especially for students, everything has been sacrificed to accuracy and brevity; references to authorities consulted have been omitted, and it has been deemed wisest to conform with prevailing views in matters concerning which there may be differences of professional opinion."—Preface.

Conybeare, Rev. W. J., and Howson, G. S., Bp. Life and Epistles of St. Paul. New ed. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1892. 22+850 p. 8°, (Silver lib.) cl., $1.25.

- Griswold, W. M., comp. A descriptive list of novels and tales dealing with life in France. Cambridge, Mass., W. M. Griswold, 1892. 618-712+9 p. O. pap., $1.
The object of the list is to direct readers to a number of novels easily accessible, which, in many cases, have been forgotten within a few years after publication. The compiler has tried to include only such works as are well-written, interesting and free from sensationalism, sentimentality and pretence. In a few instances books have been noticed on account of the reputation of their authors rather than their merits.
- Hale, G. W. Police and prison cyclopædia. Cambridge, Mass., printed for the author [G. W. Hale, Lawrence, Mass.] at the Riverside Press, 1892. c. 6+273 p. O. cl., $2.50.
Pt. 1 gives definitions of crimes and criminal terms; explains the rights and duties of police officers; duties of patrolmen; explains citizenship and naturalization; extradition of persons accused of crime, giving list of countries with which the United States has extradition treaties, with forms in use at the State Department; jurisdiction of courts; the civil service, with illustrations of examination papers. Pt. 2 contains a large amount of information of the police departments of the different cities in the United States of 10,000 population and over. Pt. 3 relates to the prisons of the country. Pt. 4 treats of foreign police departments and prisons, and Pt. 5 miscellaneous matters, including factory inspectors of the United States and Canada, information as to marriage, a brief account of Pinkerton's agency, and other things.

- Hoffman, B. B. The Sloyd system of wood-working; with a brief description of the "Eva Rohde model series" and an historical sketch of the growth of the manual-training idea. N. Y., American Book Co., 1892. c. 3-242 p. il. D. cl., $1.
The author is Superintendent of the Baronde Hirsch Fund trade schools. He gives the theory and practical application of the "Nääs System" of manual training as incorporated in the Swedish public schools.
- Howells, W. D. A letter of introduction: farce. N. Y., Harper, 1892. c. 4-61 p. il. T. (Harper's black and white ser.) cl., 50 c.
A mistake made in giving a letter of introduction leads to comical complications which the Englishman who suffers from them sets down as incomprehensible American humor.

Hume, Fergus. Miss Mephistopheles. N. Y., G. Munro, [United States Book Co.,] 1892. c. '90. 2+300 p. D. (Seaside lib., no. 1992.) pap., 25 c.

Hutton, Laurence. From the books of Laurence Hutton. N. Y., Harper, 1892. c. 5+182 p. por. T. cl., $1.

Half a dozen pleasant essays on "the oddities and curiosities of books," as exemplified in the author's library, which is "comfortably rich in literature of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries." The chapters have been published previously in different magazines and now appear revised and in some cases rewritten. They deal with "Some American book-plates," "Grangerism and the Grangerites," "Portraits of Mary Queen of Scots," "Some portrait inscriptions," "Poetical dedications" and "Poetical inscriptions."

Illinois. The rules of court, as established by the several state courts of Ill., embracing the supreme and appellate cts., and the circuit, superior, criminal, county and probate cts. of Cook Co.; comp. and annot. by Robert L. Elliott. Chic., The Wait Pub. Co., 1892. c. 118 p. O. cl., net, $1.50.

Keating, J. M., M.D., Hamilton, H., Da Costa, J. Chalmers, and Packard, F. A. New pronouncing dictionary of medicine: a voluminous and exhaustive handbook of medical and scientific terminology, with phonetic pronunciation, accentuation, etymology, etc. Phil., W. B. Saunders, 1892. c. 6-818 p. O. cl., net, $5; shp., $6.

Besides giving clear and concise definitions and fully covering the subject, the authors aim to establish a system for the pronunciation of the medical vocabulary in accordance with the pronunciation of English-speaking physicians. The Latin pronunciation is commended, but the Anglican preferred. In regard to accentuation the general rules of "Webster's Unbridged" are followed. There are included a table of medical abbreviations and an appendix containing important tables of bacilli, micrococci, leucomaines, drugs and material used in antiseptic surgery, etc.

Nichol, J. Thomas Carlyle. N. Y., Harper, 1892. c. 8+257 p. D. (English men of letters.) cl., 75 c.

A concise and readable record of Carlyle's life and works, based on a careful study of his writings, on personal impressions and reminiscences, and on information supplied by previous biographers. In the general arrangement of the volume the intention has been to give prominence to the lesser known episodes of Carlyle's life, and to pass over the details of events with which all readers are familiar. The itinerary of Carlyle's foreign journeys is included, and the three last chapters are devoted to a critical consideration of his writings, philosophy, ethics and influence.

Perram, Annie Frances. That boy Mick.

N. Y., Hunt & Eaton, [1892.] 2-193 p. D. cl., 72 c.

"That boy Mick" worked all his life in the cause of temperance. He was a baker's errand boy, and devoted to everything in trouble.

Political platforms (The). N. Y., Miller Pub. Co., [1892.] 28 p. T. pap., 10 c.

The Republican platform as adopted at Minneapolis June 9, 1892; the Democratic platform as adopted at Chicago, June 22, 1892; the Prohibition platform as adopted at Cincinnati, June 30, 1892, and the Peoples' platform as adopted at Omaha, July 4, 1892.

Poor, H. V. Poor's manual of the railroads of the United States for 1892: in which is incorporated Poor's Directory of railway officials and directors. 25th year. N. Y., H. V. & H. W. Poor, 1892. 1500 p. 8°, cl., $6.

Ralph, Julian. On Canada's frontier: sketches of history, sport and adventure, and of the Indians, missionaries, fur traders and newer settlers of Western Canada. N. Y., Harper, 1892. c. 8+325 p. il. O. cl., $2.50.

The chapters that compose this book originally formed a series of papers which recorded journeys and studies made in Canada during the past three years. They were published chiefly in Harper's Magazine. In the newer western parts of Canada the same mixed surplusage of Europe that settled the Western States is elbowing the fur trader and the Indian out of the way, and is laying out farms in the far north. The reader can get an insight into the almost departed life of the plainmen and woodsmen, and of the newer forces of nation building on our continent.

Richardson, M. T. Practical carriage-building. In 2 v. V. 2. N. Y., M. T. Richardson Co., 84 Reade st., 1892. 280 p. 12°, cl., $1.

Rickoff, Rebecca D. A supplementary first reader. N. Y., American Book Co., [1892.] c. 6+122 p. il. D. bds., 25 c.

The distinguishing features are: Words by sight learned first in sentences; analysis and synthesis combined in two interchangeable parts of one whole; comparisons of forms to cultivate the sight, and lead to a correct seeing of words. The complete reviews are most important, being the setting forth in tabulated forms of the stages of the work done.

Riddell, Mrs. J. H. The head of the firm. N. Y., Lovell, Coryell & Co., 1892. c. '91. 3-450 p. D. cl., $1; pap., 50 c.

Trollope, Mrs. Frances Eleanor. That wild wheel: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1892. c. 4+410 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

That wild wheel of fortune brings many ups and downs to a great variety of characters. The scene shifts between London and Vevey, Switzerland. An old maiden lady and a bachelor artist, brother and sister, who have devoted their lives to taking care of other people's children, live their lives of perfect unselfishness to the end, bringing happiness into many hearts. The inheritance of a great fortune occupies many possible heirs.

Trumbull, M. M., ["Wheelbarrow," pseud.] The free-trade struggle in England. 2d ed., rev. and enl. [Also,] Making scarcity. Chic., Open Court Pub. Co., 1892. c. 2+288+9 p. D. cl., 75 c.; pap., 25 c.

By the free-trade struggle in England is meant the campaign from 1838 to 1846, or from the formation of the Anti-Corn Law League to the final overthrow of the protective system. This book was first published in 1882 and dedicated to John Bright. To keep it abreast of the debate on the issue between free trade and protection, the questions of the hour in the United States, the author has revised it and given some additional facts.

United States. Department of the Interior. Official register of the United States, cont. a list of the officers and employees in the civil, military and naval service on the 1st of July, 1891; with a list of vessels belonging to the United States. V. 2, Post-office department and postal service; comp. under the direction of the Secretary of the Interior by T. S. Ames. Wash., D. C., Government Print. Office, 1892. 6+1424 p. Q. leath., n. p.

United States. (State Department.) Bureau of American Republics. Bull. no. 41. Commercial information concerning the American republics and colonies, 1891. Wash., D. C., Government Print. Office, 1892. 286 p. O. pap., n. p.

Selected extracts from daily bulletins furnished to the press of events in the American republics and colonies, arranged in classified form. The information covered is of permanent value to manufacturers, merchants, historical students and others.

Weismann, A., M.D. Essays upon heredity and kindred biological problems; authorized tr., ed. by E. B. Poulton and Arthur E. Shipley. V. 2. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1892. 8+226 p. 12°, cl., $1.30.

Weyl, Walter E., Luce, Rob., Hall, Bolton, [and others]. Equitable taxation: six essays; with introd. by Jonathan A. Lane. N. Y., T. Y. Crowell & Co., [1892.] c. 94 p. D. cl., 75 c.

In the autumn of 1891 Public Opinion offered three prizes for essays in answer to the question: "What, if any, changes in existing plans are necessary to secure an equitable distribution of the burden of taxation for the support of national, state and municipal governments? Six of these, short and pithy, are here given. The introduction is by the President of the Boston Merchants' Association.

Wilkins, Mary E. Young Lucretia, and other stories. N. Y., Harper, 1892. c. 4+258 p. il. D. cl., $1.25.

Young Lucretia was so called to distinguish her from an aunt of the same name. Her career is that of a bright child, who fails to live up to the standard of her guardians, two prim New England maiden ladies. She appeals to her aunts and the reader in her own quaint and individual way. This story is followed by twelve others, entitled: How Fidelia went to the store; Ann Mary, her two Thanksgivings; Ann Lizzy's patchwork; The little Persian princess; Where the Christmas tree grew; Where Sarah Jane's doll went; Servent's ghost; Little Mirandy, and how she earned her shoes; A parsnip stew; The Dickey boy; A sweet grass basket; Mchitable Lamb.

Winter, W. Old shrines and ivy: essays. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1892. c. 296 p. T. cl., 75 c.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

AUGUST 6, 1892.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or our advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, must reach us by Tuesday morning of each week.

In case of business changes, notification or card should be immediately sent to this office for entry under "Business Notes." New catalogues issued will also be mentioned when forwarded.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the WEEKLY solely for their information. The next important reason is that the Record of New Publications of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY forms the basis of "The American Catalogue" and so the basis of all trade bibliography in the United States.

"Every man is a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help thereunto."—LORD BACON.

PROFESSION OF BOOKSELLING.—XVII.

THE ORDER DEPARTMENT.—III.

THE order-clerk must refuse all orders that are not clearly written, intelligible, or complete in every particular. Imperfect orders should be returned at once to the salesman offering them; any delay in filling such, or loss that may result through an oversight on the part of the salesman, must be charged to him. Every order should be written out so that it may be comprehended by the order-clerk without loss of time.

It should be dated and give full name (not forgetting initials) and address of the customer. The short title of the book should be given in full (not abbreviated); and the salesman should make it a practice whenever possible to give the name of the publisher, and any other information that will assist in hunting for the book wanted. Of course it is not necessary to do this latter in the case of current and well-known books, but only in the case of such as are out of the common run. Instruction should also be plainly given whether the order when filled should be sent C.O.D., or be charged, or should bear the stamp of the cashier showing that the goods have been paid for. All these details being attended to properly, when the order is signed by the salesman his part of the transaction is completed, and his responsibility at an end.

In cases where the salesman sells part of an order from stock, and has to procure one or more books by "pick-up," the order should be made out for the entire bill sold, the books on hand being checked off with some mark agreed upon which signifies that they are laid out and will be sent to the order department. The order-clerk will also transcribe the entire order in his book, so that the transaction becomes a matter of record. He then procures the books wanted and ships them with the books already laid out.

We will endeavor to illustrate by an example the method of treating an order by the order-clerk, which we have in mind. The order book may be of any convenient size and number of pages, and ruled or not as may be desired. The date should stand at the top of each page, and each page should have a folio number. The following order found in the salesman's order book should be transcribed by the order-clerk as follows:

March 30, 1891.

[Salesman's name.]

The foregoing shows the order as first entered in the order-clerk's book. Two lines, at least, or a space of half an inch should be left between each title or item to allow of notes being added as progress is made in filling the order. Several lines also should be left between each order, and a red line drawn between them clear across the page to make a complete and distinct separation that may easily be followed by the eye. The order book must have an index, in which every name should be entered as soon as the order has been transcribed. If to the name the address is also added as : the index will be found useful in more ways than one. If the index be kept in a separate book it might also answer the purpose of an address book.

Jones, Mrs. J. (1798 Lexington Av.) 185

The process of filling Mrs. Jones's order may be something like the following, and in the course of a few days or months the original entry may look like this :

the search thus far has failed to discover the book ; also, that he has advertised for the book and hopes that through that means he may yet be able to procure a copy. "Satan in Society" is out of print, hence the well known sign, o.p. Tried everywhere, means that the order-clerk has resorted to all possible methods to pick up a copy. Later a copy turns up, and so a memorandum is made in the margin, s 5/2, that is. sent May 2. The publishers of Wallace's "Adirondacks" report the book out of print, and announce that a new issue may be expected shortly. By reference to the margin it will be seen that the customer received a copy May 18. Thus after a lapse of nearly two months the order has been worked off, with the exception of Swingle's "Essay on the Temperance Question," which is still missing.

Thus a reference to the order-book gives at all times the exact standing of an order and a record of what has been accomplished and why the open orders can't be filled. In this case every

[Salesman's name.]

Wallace's "Fair God" being easily procured, it is sent to Mrs. Jones on the day the order is received, and so marked in the space ruled off on the left hand of the page s 3/30, i.e., sent March 30. The other books, however, have given some trouble. By the note under "Essay on Temperance Question, by Swingle," it appears that the National Temperance Publication Society doesn't know the book, and that inquiry at the Prohibition headquarters, at Leggat's book-shop and elsewhere has proved equally fruitless. So the order-clerk has added the hieroglyphics, c.f.; notified 4/5. Adv. P. W. 4/20; i.e., can't find; notified customer April 5 what efforts have been made to find the book, and that item but one has been disposed of. In the case of the missing book (Swingle's essay), the chances are that the customer has given a wrong title, and that no such book is in existence. However, it will not do to give up the search. Indeed, the order-clerk must learn to say "Never die." It is the discovery of just such books that helps to make the reputation of a firm for enterprise—and helps the order-clerk to prosper. As the order book becomes filled, and here and there an order is left open, the latter are transferred to another book, which we will call the Balance Book. Into this are transcribed all unfilled orders, marking against such in the margin of the original Order Book, as in the present case, the abbreviation B. 291, i.e., Balance Book, p. 291. In the Balance Book the folio of the Order Book is marked against the transferred order thus: O. B., A-185; i.e., Order Book A, p. 185. The entry in the Balance Book would then read:

sale," was finally bought by the house that disposed of the $6000 copy, and sold by them for $6500.

I did not say there were no leaves in fac-simile in the $6000 copy, as I thought it unnecessary. In describing the President of the United States it Cancelled.

1 Essay on Temperance question, by Swingle, paper.

Published privately by O. S. Williams, 700 Beekman Street, N. Y., at 50c. Notified 8/10. Reply: Don't want now; too late.

Jones, O.B., A-185.

By this method the order-clerk may keep before him all unfilled orders for easy daily reference. In this case it appears that after a long hunt Swingle's essay has been hunted to its cover. It was privately printed by O. S. Williams, 700 Beekman Street, New York, at 50 cents. On notifying the customer August 10, word was received that it was too late and that he had no longer any use for the book. Hence there is nothing left but to cancel the order, and to make a memorandum in the order-clerk's index rerum of "Swingle, 'Essay on Temperance Question.' O. S. Williams, 700 Beekman St., N. Y. 50 c.;" and under "Temperance, see Swingle."

The order-clerk may save himself worry and time by inquiring of his customer, after the lapse of three or four weeks, whether he wishes the search continued. Often certain books are wanted for a special purpose and at a certain time, or not at all.

MR. SMALLEY AND THE $6000 FIRST FOLIO SHAKESPEARE.

"It would be interesting to know the size of the $6000 [First Folio Shakespeare] copy, its condition and the reason for the extraordinary price asked and given."—G. W. S., in N. Y. Tribune.

IN the issue of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY for June 18, 1892, may be found full answers to all the above queries, but for the benefit of Mr. Smalley I will repeat all of what is known of the copy in question.

It came from Mr. Brayton Ives' library. At the sale of his collection it fetched \$4200. Where Mr. Ives got it I never heard, but doubtless he has no objections to giving the information. The size was $12\frac{3}{8} \times 7\frac{1}{8}$ inches. It was sound and clean (not cleaned), which is quite a different thing.

By sound I mean that it was, with the exception of being cut and rebound, just as issued. Not a corner had been patched or mended, and it was in the slang of the trade a "crackling" copy. The binding was crimson morocco, by Bedford.

Mr. Smalley is wrong in thinking such prices without precedent in England. Mr. Quaritch advertised a copy not more than four years ago for £1200. This, though marked "not for would hardly be worth while to mention the fact that he was not born in China.

If Mr. Quaritch, as charged by Mr. Smalley, is not in the habit of calling attention to imperfections which do exist, it shows he is a man to be avoided by all bookbuyers. At the same time it is a very dangerous charge to make unless it can be substantiated. Mr. Quaritch can well look after himself in a quarrel. He is the "bad man" of the book trade. Witness his killing of the Ellis-Ives Columbus letter, and to him will I leave the answering of G. W. S.'s charges.

BIBLIOPHILUS.

EX-LIBRIS.

THE affixing of the book-plate, says a writer in the London Saturday Review, completes, in a certain manner difficult to describe, which most book lovers must readily recall, the subtle joy of book possession. And inasmuch as once pasted in, the label becomes an integral part of a cherished volume, it is in all but rare cases meant to be in itself a thing of definite beauty. Here is one of the many interests offered by a book-plate to the collector.

Futhermore, "Style is the man," said Buffon, largely. This truism may be paraphrased with reference to other than literary style. A "bibliophile's" plate often does (always should) reveal special tastes, peculiarities of fancy, personal bias, details that might not otherwise have been perpetuated. This is most particularly the case with the style of ex-libris known as the "Library Interior," the "Book Pile," the "Allegorical," in which much of the owner's personality has scope to appear.

The present may be said to be distinctly a collecting age; it is also very perceptibly a book-loving one. Now the study of book-plates is a humble, but by no means useless or even closely restricted, branch of bibliophily, and the collecting of ex-libris is a pursuit which it were wrong to compare, as men have lightly done, to the "hoarding of postage-stamps."

The book-plate has an interest which covers three and three-quarters centuries; and, whether ancient or modern, it may have one or all of the following heads of value to the antiquarian, the artist, the literateur. It may bear a date, and thus help to fix a definite taste in graving and ornamentation; it may appear as a record of some well-known person in the past; it may offer special information to the herald and genealogist; it may be a remarkably handsome thing in itself.

NEW YORK INVADED BY BOOKWORMS.

CLOSE upon the recent invasion of Manhattan Island by thousands of enthusiasts in the cause of the elevation of the human race, comes the dread news of the stealthy entry of two enemies that has struck terror into the heart of every man who owns a book worth having. So wily has been their insinuation into our midst that it would be difficult to fix the exact date of their immigration. Their history really begins with the fine morning, last week, on which Mr. W. E. Benjamin, of 751 Broadway, New York City, took from his shelf a worn leather-bound copy of Seneca, published in London in 1675, and found two healthy specimens of the genus Aglossa pinguinalis ensconced in a burrow through the bottom of the precious book. Instantly Doraston's verses on the "Bookworm" (for the reader will have guessed by this time that we are occupying his attention with an account of that enemy of books) recurred to him:

"There is a sort of busy worm
That will the fairest books deform,
By gnawing holes throughout them.
Alike through every leaf they go.
Yet of its merits naught they know,
Nor care they aught about them."

"Their tasteless tooth will tear and taint
The Poet, Patriot, Sage, or Saint,
Not sparing wit or learning.
Now, if you'd know the reason why,
The best of reasons I'll supply:
'Tis bread to the poor vermin."

"Of pepper, snuff, or 'bacca smoke,
And Russian calf they make a joke.
Yet, why should sons of science
These puny, rankling reptiles dread?
'Tis but to let their books be read,
And bid the worms defiance."

An ante-mortem inquest, held by a number of bibliophiles at Mr. Benjamin's store, revealed the following:

THE SENECA.

The copy of the Seneca, which, by the way, belonged to John Carey in 1782, lay on a small table, open at page 46. In the lower right-hand corner of the page, a small, white worm lay buried in a hole it had eaten in the pages. The worm was motionless. Protruding over the edge of the leaves and attached to the tail of the worm was a conical cocoon. The worm and its companion, which began at the end of Seneca to eat forward while the other began at the front and is working toward the end, are the first of their kind known to have visited New York City. The worm eating in the front of the book is about three-eighths of an inch long and one-eighth of an inch in diameter. Its head ends bluntly, while its tail tapers to a sharp point. It is the color of water mixed with oatmeal. It lay motionless, until through the carelessness of one onlooker the cocoon was torn from the paper. The worm then raised itself suddenly, but almost instantly resumed its former position, buried in the pages.

MR. BENJAMIN'S BOOK-
WORM AND SHELL

The cocoon, when examined under a microscope, appeared to have six legs, or leg-cases, and a white median line, barely perceptible, on its under side. At the end from which the worm had emerged were two fine horns, thinner than silk thread. There were five rings around the tail. The structure of the shell is so thin that one can easily see through it. With the worm in the back of the book no shell could be found.*

Heretofore all authorities on the bookworm—and there are many scientists who have devoted much time to the pest—have agreed that he was not known anywhere in the United States. According to Ringwalt's "Encyclopædia of Printing," published in Philadelphia in 1871, the bookworm is a stranger in this country and is supposed to have been introduced into England in hog-leather binding from Holland. It says that "there is now in a private library in Philadelphia a book perforated by this insect." Mr. Ringwalt does not say whether the worm was found. That bookworms are becoming scarcer and rarer year by year is evident when one recalls that Bernard Quaritch, when he found a bookworm in one of his books five years ago, gave a dinner to all his customers. It remains for Mr. Benjamin to do likewise.

Since the above was written death has overtaken one of the invaders. Mr. Benjamin ascribes its death to the carelessness of one of the bibliophiles who examined it on Saturday last. The bookworm was weaving a cocoon and had it about half finished. The bibliophile was examining it through a magnifier when he carelessly let the glass fall. It struck the cocoon and tore it from the worm. The bookworm, which had hitherto lain motionless, rose upright, but almost instantly sank again into its nest among the leaves. The cocoon was put back as nearly as possible in its former position and the book was closed. When Mr. Benjamin opened it on the morning of the 1st inst. the bookworm's body protruded half way over the edge of the book. As its owner watched it it fell clear off Seneca, and died. The remaining member of the family is still alive.

OBITUARY NOTES.

THEODORE H. VULTEE, Secretary of L'Artiste Publishing Company, at 7 Warren Street, New York, died suddenly in his office on the 2d inst. He had just returned from lunch. Mr. Vultee left his home, 327 York Street, Jersey City, in the morning, in apparently good health. He had been complaining lately of heart trouble, and it is supposed that heart disease caused his death. He was born in New York City sixty-six years ago.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE portion of the Althorp Library which Lord Spencer has been obliged by his circumstances to dispose of, was sold July 28 at private sale to an Englishman whose name has not been given, and who will, it is understood, provide a suitable building for its reception, to which the general public shall have free access.

GINN & Co. have nearly ready "German Orthography and Phonology," by George Hempl, Asst. Professor of English in Michigan University. They will publish in the fall "Fourier's Series, and Spherical, Cylindrical and Ellipsoidal Harmonics," with applications to problems in mathematical physics, by W. E. Byerly, and "Analytics of English Prose and Poetry," by L. A. Sherman, Professor of English Literature in the University of Nebraska.

THE famous Poe Cottage, at Fordham, N. Y., has again passed into other hands. A wealthy Catholic publisher has just bought the quaint and fast-decaying house, and as soon as the present litigation over the title to the property is settled the new owner will have the cottage lifted up and carried to his country-seat a few blocks away. There it will receive a thorough overhauling, several hundred dollars will be spent in its complete renovation, and the whole thing transformed into an art studio and library for the use of the new owner.

BERNARD QUARITCH, London, will publish in October an edition of 500 copies of Caxton's "Golden Legend," in three volumes, quarto, printed from type of William Morris' designing, with ornamental letters and borders also of his invention, besides two full-page woodcuts from designs by Burne-Jones. Mr. Morris and Mr. Frederick S. Ellis will edit the work, furnishing a glossary and some bibliographical memoranda. Caxton's "Recuyell of the Histories of Troye," as already noted, will be brought out in similar style in January, and his "Historye of Reynard the Foxe" is in contemplation.

A NEW edition of the Waverley Novels announced by A. & C. Black, Edinburgh, will comprise twenty-five volumes, one to appear each month. It will be known as the Dryburgh Edition. Each volume will be intrusted for illustration "to an artist whose qualifications seem specially to fit him for illustrating the period with which the novel deals," and will contain ten illustrations. The text will be collated word for word with the copy on which Scott made his last notes, now in the possession of the publishers. Glossaries will be appended to each volume, and volume xxv. will contain an index to all the novels.

THE prize of one hundred pounds offered for guessing the author's title of a shilling story issued some months ago from the Leadenhall Press has not been gained, according to the London Academy. The title is suggested in the opening sentence in the book—"I have only one eye but I was born with two"—and again in the frontispiece which represents a human eye with the legend "I lost the other without knowing how." More than one-half the competitors thought that the word "eye" had something to do with it; and among the guesses were "An Eye for an Eye"—by far the most numerous—"Eye & Eye," "I and I," "I," "I and Eye," "Two Eyes," "A Black Eye," "Eyes Right" and "Eye Owe You." The author's title is "An Eye and an I." The story itself is by Mr. Andrew Tuer, the director of the Leadenhall Press, who, now that the prize is withdrawn, seems to think that even sixpence is more than the little book is worth; at any rate, he has scored out "one shilling" on the cover and has substituted the lower price with satis superque printed underneath.

THE firm of Benziger & Co. was founded in 1792 in the town of Einsiedeln, Switzerland, and on June 12 celebrated its centennial anniversary with much pomp and festivities, in which the entire German book trade took active interest. The founder of the business was Josef Karl Benziger. In the early thirties his two sons, Karl and Nikolas, inherited the establishment. Their specialty was Catholic devotional books, and has remained so to the present day. Their sons in turn took charge of the business and are now at the head of the great book-house. In the early fifties the first American branch of the house was established in New York, under the firm-name of Benziger Brothers. A second branch followed in Cincinnati in 1860, and a third was located in St. Louis in 1875, which has since been removed to Chicago. The publications of this firm include upwards of 400 different prayer-books and books of devotion and Bibles and Bible stories in almost every language. They also publish a great number of Catholic works of art, and make a specialty of color printing. The description of the festivities, which lasted two days, is given at length in the Börsenblatt for June 27.

BUSINESS NOTES.

BATAVIA, N. Y.—Joseph Spellman, bookseller, has sold out to Frank Spellman.

CARSON CITY, NEV.—John G. Fox, bookseller, intends closing out.

CHEYENNE, WYO.—John K. Jeffrey, bookseller, has sold out.

CHICAGO, ILL.—William T. Keenan, bookseller, has failed.

CHICAGO, ILL.—The Automatic Newspaper Distributing Company, of Chicago, was incorporated July 20 with a capital stock of $200,000. The general principle of the machine to distribute newspapers is similar to the "nickel-in-the-slot" machine. A cent or two cents, as the case may be, is dropped into a slot and a handle pulled. Forthwith the purchaser is confronted with the paper he desires. The machine will also make change when required.

CLINTON, MASS.—George S. Harris & Co., booksellers, have sold out.

HARTFORD, CONN.—James H. Minor, bookseller and stationer, has sold out to George M. Parsons.

IONIA, MICH.—R. Ward & Co., booksellers, have sold out.

KENANSVILLE, N. C.—J. B. Whitaker, bookseller, has advertised his business for sale.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.—T. Alexander, at 215 Washington Ave., S., has taken an assistant and proposes to handle a complete line of all school-books that are being used in the universities as well as the public and private schools of this city and vicinity. His new store is one of the best in the city.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers only are entitled to a free insertion of five lines for books out of print, exclusive of address (in any issue except special numbers), to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Books for Exchange," the charge is 10 cents per line. No deduction for standing matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL

For 1892 (Twentieth Year).

Large 8vo, 3430 pages. With Duplex Index. Cloth, net, $2.00.

The Trade List Annual for 1892 will contain:

1. The latest CATALOGUES OF AMERICAN PUBLISHERS, contributed by themselves and arranged alphabetically by the firm-names and smaller lists at the end of the volume.
2. A complete list by author, title and subject of all books recorded in the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY from January to June, 1892, supplementing the ANNUAL CATALOGUE, 1891.
3. The "EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE" for 1892, which is used by the entire trade and educational interests as the most representative reference-list of School-books.

The above Lists, all bound in one volume, present in their combination so convenient and time-saving a working-tool as to make it indispensable to every one who has any interest in the purchase or sale of books.

The patent "DUPLEX INDEX" having given such general satisfaction, we are now applying it to all copies of the "Annual." Volumes supplied with the "DUPLEX INDEX" have the alphabet printed on the concave surface as well as on the margin of the page, which enables instantaneous reference, whether the book is open or shut.

Only those subscribing and forwarding amount now are entitled to subscription rate of $1.50; after publication day and on orders which we have to collect after that date the regular price is $2.00 NET. The edition is limited.

Remittances should be made by Check, Money Order on New York or Registered Letter, as we cannot be responsible for any losses. Receipt for remittance will be sent by return mail.

 Unless special shipping directions are received, copies ready for delivery will be despatched by express unpaid. Parties so desiring can have their copies sent by mail, or by prepaid book-rate express for 90 cents per copy extra. Address

SOMETHING IMPORTANT.

NOW READY.

A New (Tenth) Edition, Author's Last Revision,

OF THE

Book on the Physician Himself,

AND

Things that Concern His Reputation and Success,

BY

D. W. CATHELL, M.D., Baltimore, Md.

The author's final revision of this, one of the most useful, successful and popular medical books ever published, is now ready for delivery.

It has been wisely and carefully revised throughout. The well-known charming style of the author is preserved intact, while the practical value of the book is truly enhanced by the addition of much of the author's gathered wisdom not introduced into any previous edition. The volume has been brought to perfection, as far as human effort can achieve, and though enlarged to 350 Royal Octavo pages the price has not been increased.

Bound in Extra Cloth, - - - - - $2.00 net.

EVERY DEALER SHOULD ORDER A SUPPLY OF THIS FAMOUS BOOK AT ONCE.

READY EARLY IN SEPTEMBER.

The New Pocket Medical Dictionary.

Compiled from the latest authorities, and containing words recently introduced into medicine; also Addenda of Abbreviations, Affixes, List of Diseases known by proper names, List of Poisons and their Antidotes, etc., etc.

By DAVID BRADEN KYLE, M.D.,

Assistant Demonstrator of Pathology and Instructor in Clinical Microscopy at the Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia; Visiting Physician to Philadelphia Home for Incurables; Associate Editor of the "Annual of the Universal Medical Sciences."

This compact and complete little dictionary will be a thing of beauty as well as of use. It will be neatly printed on extra thin, but opaque and durable paper, with red marginal lines on every page, thus bringing out the type clear and distinct. In strong, flexible leather binding. Size, 2 $\frac{5}{8}$ x 5 $\frac{1}{4}$ inches, easily fitting in the vest-pocket.

Longmans, Green & Co.'s New Books.

THE HOUSE OF THE WOLF. A romance. By STANLEY J. WEYMAN. New edition. (Silver library.) With frontispiece. 12mo, $1.25.

"It is brief, vigorous and exciting, while the characters, though very much the reverse of common-place, seem literally to breathe and move."—The Independent.

NEW STORY OF THEATRICAL LIFE.

DOROTHY WALLIS. An autobiography. With preface by Walter Besant. Crown 8vo, $1.50.

"Miss Wallis' autobiography has the great merit of being original. Others may have had her experiences, but few have had the courage to tell them in so ungarnished and ingenious a style."—Saturday Review.

ABRAHAM FABERT: Governor of Sedan, Marshal of France (the first who rose from the Ranks); His Life and Times, 1599-1662. By G. HOOPER, author of "Waterloo; the Downfall of the First Napoleon," etc. With a portrait. 8vo, $3.50.

DISTINCTION; and the Criticism of Beliefs. By ALFRED SIDGWICK, author of "Fallacies." Crown 8vo, $1.75.

. This book is intended to be a plain statement of the difficulties arising from accepting doctrines of evolution with especial reference to the question of their removal.

THE BLUE POETRY BOOK. Edited by ANDREW LANG. New edition. Printed on india paper, with notes. Fcap., 8vo, extra cloth, gilt edges, $2.00.

. To this edition a few notes, mainly on points of anti-quarianism connected with the traditional songs and ballads, have been added by Mr. Lang. The design of the cover is taken from an Italian binding of the fifteenth century, figured in Libri's "Monuments Inédits."

BEGGARS ALL. A novel. By L. DOUGALL. Sixth edition. Crown 8vo, cloth, ornamental, $1.00.

"This is one of the strongest as well as most original romances of the year. . . . The plot is extraordinary. . . . The close of the story is powerful and natural. . . . A masterpiece of restrained and legitimate dramatic fiction."—Literary World.

"To say that 'Beggars All' is a remarkable novel is to put the case mildly indeed, for it is one of the most original, discerning, and thoroughly philosophical presentations of character that has appeared in English for many a day. . . . Emphatically a novel that thoughtful people ought to read. . . . The perusal of it will by many be reckoned among the intellectual experiences that are not easily forgotten."—Boston Beacon.

"A story of thrilling interest."—Home Journal.

"A very unusual quality of novel. It is written with ability; it tells a strong story with elaborate analysis of character and motive. . . . It is of decided interest and worth reading."—Commercial Advertiser, N. Y.
